

Lesbian Writers Series

Inaugurated on February 18, 1984, at A Different Light bookstore in Los Angeles, this trailblazing series featured an amazing range of lesbian writers

1984 was a groundbreaking year for Southern California. Mayor Tom Bradley brought the summer Games of the XXIII Olympiad to Los Angeles, the first time since 1932. In November, the newly incorporated City of West Hollywood appointed the world's first openly lesbian mayor Valerie Terrigno. A lesser known, but pivotal event also took place when L.A.'s first gay/lesbian bookstore, A Different Light Books in Silver Lake launched the first-ever writers series for lesbians – the Lesbian Writers Series – on Saturday evening February 18, 1984.

Indeed, Southern California was home to a number of women's bookstores—including Westwood's Sisterhood Bookstore near UCLA and Pasadena's Page One—that included lesbian authors. Regardless, most lesbian writers remained mute about their identities at public readings, even at the Woman's Building in downtown Los Angeles.

A Different Light Books (named by co-owner Norman Laurila after a gay-themed science fiction novel) opened in October 1979 at 4014 Santa Monica Blvd at the Sunset Junction in Silver Lake and expanded to include stores in San Francisco, New York and West Hollywood that all thrived during the 80s and mid-90s. The flagship Silver Lake store closed in April 1992. All four former venues included robust and well-represented collections of lesbian fiction and non-fiction, expertly curated by store co-founder Richard Labonte.

Ann Bradley was the second lesbian to work at A Different Light Books, initially hired for the 1983 holiday season. She remained a store clerk through November 1985.

On Monday night January 16, 1984, writer Carolyn Weathers asked Bradley to join her for a reading of her memoir Leaving

The lesbian writers presented in In a Different Light: an Anthology of Lesbian Writers were from those who read their works at Ann Bradley's wildly popular and influential Lesbian Writers Series, which took place every Saturday evening at A Different Light Bookstore in Silver Lake.

The LWS was eclectic. Ann Bradley's only requirement was that the writer be an open lesbian. Beyond that, there were no strictures. All forms were fine. All opinions and tone were welcome—be they funny, sad, bittersweet, profound, or angry.

Jenny Wrenn and I took this same approach at Clothespin Fever Press. Just be an out lesbian, and you could write about death and loss or about the adventures of your spacedog Molly Moon touring the galaxy.

—Carolyn Weathers

Texas at Pam Roberts' Three Guineas Bookstore in Newport Beach, California. Bradley was a fan of Weathers since meeting the Texas native and her older sister Brenda—founder of L.A.'s Alcoholism Center for Women, the nation's first recovery facility to welcome lesbian alcoholics—on September 1, 1980. That September evening Carolyn cradled the manuscript of Crazy, her tragicomic autobiography detailing her manic depression, published by Clothespin Fever Press in 1989. Bradley later copied Weather's delightful story "Tracking Down Vivian" from a November 1983 issue of the LA Reader and sent it with her holiday cards.

The fierce rain that January evening limited Weathers' audience to about eight intrepid souls who were so captivated by her story-telling that they begged her to read the entire twenty-five-page plus memoir of vignettes on growing up in a small Texas town with her adored older sister. Driving home, Bradley told her that she felt compelled to create a wider showcase for Weathers' literary luminescence. The next morning, Bradley asked store manager Ruggles, co-founder Labonte, and owner Laurila whether she could launch the Lesbian Writers Series with Weathers and hold subsequent monthly readings on the third Saturday night of the month. Literary history began.

The Lesbian Writers Series debuted with Carolyn Weathers on Saturday, February 18, 1984, at A Different Light. Bradley was helped by numerous individuals including literary mavens Eloise Klein Healy—who would go on to become L.A.'s first poet laureate appointed by Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa in December of 2012—and longtime Woman's Building executive director, writing teacher and poet/playwright/author Terry Wolverton.

In an April 1990 interview for L.A. Magazine Bradley remembered, "I started the series because I had been a supporter of women writers and I was aware as a lesbian that we'd been silenced." She had one rule: writers appearing on the Lesbian Writers Series would be listed on fliers, news releases, and promotional material. No closets. Labonte, a former Toronto Star reporter and gay/lesbian literary aficionado greatly assisted Bradley in the first year of the Lesbian Writers Series. Initially, the Los Angeles Times Book Calendar listed the Series as the "Women's Writers Series," until Labonte called and graciously insisted on the correct title for future listings.

As a publicist at Cal State L.A., Bradley also had the exceptional backing of California State University Los Angeles Public Affairs director and former Santa Monica

Mayor Ruth Goldway who generously supported Joan Nestle's January 1989 appearance and the CSULA-sponsored March 30, 1989, appearance by acclaimed African American lesbian poets Cheryl Clarke and Pat Parker for Women's History Month. Parker's reading at A Different Light with Clarke on Friday, March 31, 1989 would be her last public appearance before her sudden and untimely death from cancer the following June.

Bradley produced the series from 1984 through the end of 1990. She introduced series writers for the first six years and then Gail Suber introduced the writers for the 1990 season and coordinated the 1991 lineup. Suber collaborated with Sophia Corleone on the 1992 season and assisted with later years. When the Silver Lake store closed in April 1992, Suber moved the Series to the West Hollywood store, also on Santa Monica Blvd. Writer/producer Sophia Corleone, who first read publicly on the series in 1988, became series coordinator in 1993 and would later incorporate the series as a stand-alone event, designating the series as a 501(c)3 and establishing a Lesbian Writers Series mentorship program. When the series took place at Plummer Park and other locations, Corleone worked with photographer Janice Porter-Moffitt who brought a book trolley to supply copies for author signings.

Carolyn Weathers and then-partner Jenny Wrenn launched Clothespin Fever Press, which was dedicated to lesbian authors, in

..... To acknowledge a lesbian culture has too often been met with disdain, distrust, and disbelief as the quoted library catalog cards have manifested when they repeatedly used the words "so-called" for conceptions about lesbians being anything but sexual deviants....The Lesbian Writers Series has given voice to the multifaceted lesbian community....Several great women writers are just beginning to appear in literature anthologies used in universities. Interestingly, the first Book of the Month selection, Lolly Widdowes, a very well-received book in 1926, was by Sylvia Townsend Warner, a lesbian. The work, forgotten by the dominant culture today, has been reissued and is known to those who keep this hidden culture alive....Instead of maintaining our culture through public libraries, civic arenas or galleries, lesbians have gravitated toward private centers, initially bar rooms, small community centers, and private homes, finally bookstores.

1986. In its 10 years, the imprint published twenty-three books. On February 24, 1989, Clothespin celebrated the publication of a volume featuring the first five years of the Lesbian Writers Series, In a Different Light: An Anthology of Lesbian Writers, at a party at the Woman's Building. Bradley contributed the preface to the book and introduced the evening as the "best prom we've never been to!"

Sophia Corleone with assistance from Gail Suber expanded the reach of the series, featuring such preeminent authors as June Jordan, Cherrie Moraga, Joan Larkin, and Angela Davis and bringing Joan Nestle back for two more appearances, which included the last Southern California public reading of the Lesbian Writers Series on Saturday, November 14, 1998, at Plummer Park in West Hollywood. Nestle had made her Southern California debut in January of 1989 during a week of events scheduled by Bradley with the assistance of Suber and Corleone, including readings at UC Irvine on January 18, at the UCLA Center for the Study of Women on January 19, at CSULA on January 20, and in the Lesbian Writers Series at A Different Light Books on Saturday, January 21, 1989.

At Bradley's suggestion, the UCLA Women's Studies Program and UCLA Center for the Study of Women cosponsored Nestle's 1989 visit with additional funding from CSULA librarian Morris Polan. Mary Margaret Smith of the Women's Studies Program produced a 1988-89 series of readings by lesbian historians and writers after UCLA students founded the nation's first lesbian sorority Lambda Delta Lambda in February of 1988 (http://articles.latimes.com/1988-02-24/local/me-11690\_1\_lambda-delta-lambda-sorority). yet were largely unaware of their city's lesbian history. Smith agreed to include Nestle among those legendary voices in a series that included Audre Lorde.

In 1974 Joan Nestle co-founded the nation's first lesbian archives, the Lesbian Herstory Archives with her then-partner Deborah Edel. Housed for many years in Nestle's Manhattan apartment, the Archives moved to its permanent Park Slope building in Brooklyn in June 1992. (<http://www.lesbianherstoryarchives.org/>) Nestle's 1989 week-long Southern California appearances helped raise funds for the Park Slope building including more than $800 collected from at the UCLA/CSW event in January 1989.

In 1987, while on the board of L.A.'s gay/lesbian Celebration Theatre, Bradley created and launched the Lesbian Writers Series II to showcase the talents of lesbian playwrights, film makers and performance artists. The year showcased the talents of Robin Podolsky, Jere Van Syoc and film maker Martha Wheelock among others.

On Friday, October 19, 1990, A Different Light Books manager Jim Morrow celebrated the 11th anniversary of the bookstore at an event thanking Bradley for founding the Lesbian Writers Series. Bradley invited Carolyn Weathers, Eloise Klein Healy, and Sophia Corleone to read on a program that also celebrated the numerous individuals who had attended the series since its inception, including June Mazer Archives board member Angela Brinskele.

A letter to Bradley from United States Representative Henry Waxman said in part, "It is vital for every literate American to be aware of the monumental literary contributions made by lesbian writers throughout history. It is also imperative to appreciate the barriers they have overcome."

On Sunday, March 28, 2004, ONE Archives director Stuart Timmons, also a former clerk at A Different Light, celebrated the 20th anniversary of the Lesbian Writers Series and Clothespin Fever Press. Covering the event, the Los Angeles Times wrote in part, "Ann Bradley was working as a clerk at the gay and lesbian bookstore A Different Light when she founded the series in 1984. At the time she was frustrated by the fact that women writers reading their works would not acknowledge their homosexuality...."

Also in the March 29, 2004, Los Angeles Times feature, LWS coordinator Sophia Corleone noted "For many years the Lesbian Writers Series was absolutely the only place where lesbian-themed authors could safely share their work. In many ways, this is still true."

Ann Bradley, founder and coordinator of the Lesbian Writers Series from 1984 to 1990, compiled this history. For information, she can be reached at ann.bradley@sbcglobal.net.
